BRUTALLY MURDERS 11 NEGRO EMPLOYES

GLENDALE LODGE BENEVOLENT AND PROTECTIVE ORDER OF ELKS INSTALL

Exalted Rulers Leo A. Stromee and Elmer Anderson of Pasadena; E. A. Potter, of Alhambra, Were Guests of Honor at Banquet in Casa Verdugo.

Officers elected at the first meeting in March were duly installed at the first April meeting of Glendale Lodge No. 1289, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at their club house last evening.

Leo A. Stromee, past exalted ruler of the San Bernardino lodge, was the installing officer, with Albert D. Pearce acting as grand esquire and the other chairs also filled by members of the Glendale lodge.

Officers installed were: Alfred F. Priest, exalted ruler; Arthur H. Dibbern, esteemed leading knight; James A. Apffel, esteemed loyal knight; Earl Patterson, esteemed lecturing knight; Frank K. Lowe, tiler; W. M. Kimball, secretary; Herman Nelson, treasurer; Harry E. White, trustee for three years; John H. Fanset, delegate to the convention; S. C. Packer, alternate to the convention.

The regular business meeting followed the installation ceremony. There was also an entertainment program in the social hall, at which a buffet luncheon was served.

Preceding the installation the officers of the local lodge entertained at dinner at Casa Verdugo, their guests of honor being the installing officer, Leo A. Stromee; Exalted Ruler-elect Elmer Anderson, of Pasadena, and Exalted Ruler-elect E. A. Potter, of Alhambra. Included in the guest list were all past exalted rulers of Glendale lodge, the officers-elect of the local lodge, Past Exalted Ruler Kaighin, of Pasadena, and Past Exalted Ruler Murphy, of Long Beach.

GLENDALE'S INTERMEDIATE TEAM VS. PASADENA MILITARY ACADEMY

The track meet between Glendale's intermediate team and that of the Pasadena Military Academy which took place on the Glendale field Monday afternoon, was one of the most closely contested events in which the intermediate boys ever engaged. It ended in favor of intermediate with a score of 42 to 39. The result was in doubt until the relay, which was won by intermediate.

The star of the meet from the intermediate point of view was Lionel Martinez, who won first place in the broad jump, jumping 15 feet 6 inches, tying for second place in the high jump at 4 feet 10 inches, which was 3 inches better than has been done by any intermediate boy this year. He also won second place in the pole vault, 8 feet.

Lee Shannon was probably the second best boy on the intermediate team, winning first in the 220-yard dash, running the best lap in the relay and only losing the 100-yard dash because of a bad start.

Among other winners for intermediate were Arthur Cressey, who won second place in the 220 and third place in the 440, also running a lap in the relay. Elmer Muff ran a fine race in the 440 and would have won had he not stumbled within a yard of the finish and being unable to recover, took second place.

Paul Cena was the only intermediate to win a point in the shotput.

In the half-mile, every boy entered from intermediate finished ahead of the Pasadena boys. The order in which they placed was: Winifred Fearn, first; Eugene Drury, second; Vernon Boone, third.

Intermediate was rather weak on field events but very strong in running events. The relay gave the team just enough advantage to win the meet.

CITY ATTORNEY ADVISES TRUSTEES

Rules That Board Has Jurisdiction to Revise Manner of Making Assessment

At an adjourned meeting of the board of city trustees held at the City hall, Monday evening, one of the most important matters considered was the opinion rendered by City Attorney Shaw on the Maple street assessment following the protest made by Mr. Heacock and others that the original pavement for which they had barely finished paying had been torn up, relaid, and the cost of the street work had been assessed against him and others. The city attorney's opinion follows:

"I beg to advise that the same is sufficient to constitute an appeal to you from the street superintendent's assessment for this improvement. This appeal vests you with full jurisdiction to revise the manner in which that assessment is made and the amounts which are assessed against each and all of the lots within the assessment district.

"You have power if you so determine, to order an entire new assessment made on some different principle of distribution of the cost. You are limited, however, in two respects: First, you cannot change the district to be assessed; and, second, that you must assess against the lots in that district the full cost of the improvement, including the contract price and the incidental expenses.

"Before you can act on this matter it is necessary for you to fix a date for hearing and have notice thereof given by posting. This hearing should not be held until after the time for filing all appeals expires, so that if any other appeals should be filed they can all be heard at once. Your first meeting after the expiration of this time will be on April 14, and I suggest that that be the date of hearing. Should, however, an appeal be filed before that time and too late to give the necessary notice before that date on such other appeals, a continuance of one week may become necessary.

Yours very truly,
HARTLEY SHAW,
City Attorney.

HARROWER PICNIC AT BROOKSIDE

The third birthday of the Harrower Laboratories was celebrated Sunday with a picnic at Brookside park, attended by employes and members of their families to the number of 91. The doctor says the only reason Brookside was chosen instead of Glendale's city park is that Kenilworth park was not big enough for the crowd which enjoyed itself with games and in a variety of diversions. Photographs were taken, a big birthday cake was cut and distributed and a little presentation was made by way of farewell to E. A. McDonald, who left Monday to take charge of the newly-established branch office at Dallas, Texas.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower is leaving Wednesday for Kansas City, Chicago and Dallas. He will be accompanied by W. H. Block, chief of the correspondence department of the company, who is to open the new office being established at Kansas City and get it started for the man who will take charge of it later. This means that the Harrower Laboratory will have branches at New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Denver, Portland, Ore., Kansas City and Glendale, its home office being in this city. Dr. Harrower expects to be away about three weeks.

"BOMB MYSTERY" CONFRONTS POLICE

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 5.—The Chicago police were confronted with a new "bomb mystery" today. Three persons were injured and damage estimated at $2000 resulted when a bomb was exploded in the building occupied by Oscar de Priest, former negro alderman. De Priest believes the bomb was hurled by persons who objected to his leasing apartments in a building he recently purchased to negroes.

John Williams, Central Figure in Georgia's Sensational Death Case

Attorneys Declare There Was Fault in Indictment, Ask Trial Be Postponed to Give Chance to Prepare Case

(By International News Service)

COVINGTON, Ga., April 5.—Facing trial on the first of three charges of complicity in the murder of negro farm hands he had employed, John Williams, central figure in Georgia's most sensational death case, arrived here today from tthe county jail at Atlanta and was immediately taken to the county court house, where preparations had been made to start his trial on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Willie Preston.

Preston was one of three negroes whose bodies were found in this county in the Yellow river and which led directly to the investigation which resulted in discovery of a total of 11 bodies of Williams' former employes.

Greene F. Johnson, counsel for Williams, asked for a continuance in the trial of Williams on a charge of murder when the case was called and Solicitor General Brand announced the state ready for trial. Johnson said he had not had time to prepare his case.

One hundred veniremen specially summoned for this case, were on hand when Judge Hutcheson of the Stone Mountain circuit of the Georgia superior court, mounted the bench.

The state scored its first point when Judge Hutcheson overruled the defense's plea for a continuance. Counsel for the defense made a vigorous fight, declaring they should have time to examine Clyde Manning, the state's star witness and then ten weeks to prepare the case. They also declared there was a fault in the indictment in that it charges Manning and Williams with having killed Lindsey Peterson at a time when his body was found.

FACTORIES TO BE DENATIONALIZED

(By International News Service)

PARIS, April 5.—The soviet government, according to advices from Moscow to the French foreign office today, has decided to denationalize all factories. They are beginning with those in the Moscow district. The Russian economic failure is given as the cause. The factories are being turned back to their former foreign owners for exploitation.

PRACTICAL WORK BY C. OF C. COMMITTEES

At a joint meeting of city trustees and the committee on highways of the Chamber of Commerce, of which E. P. Hayward is chairman, and which took place at the city hall following an adjourned meeting of the trustees, the question of making safe the Brand boulevard crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks was discussed. City Manager Watson was instructed to inform Mr. Whalen of the Southern Pacific that the proposition submitted by him for the paving of the railroad's right-of-way will be accepted.

The question of ways and means of making the crossing safe was discussed. It was decided that the proposition which the highways committee has been considering of a subway at Brand and the Southern Pacific tracks cannot be put through for some time and that meanwhile, immediate protection is needed. The highways committee was therefore requested to get authority from the chamber to take up with the railroad company a proposition to establish at that crossing automatic gates to be operated by the man in the switch tower. The electric light at the south end of Brand and the arrow pointing up the boulevard were also discussed and the conclusions reached in the discussion will be presented to the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce at its noonday luncheon today.

The committee on advertising and promotion, of which H. S. Webb is chairman, met at the chamber headquarters Monday night to discuss the needs of Glendale in the form of folders and pamphlets which can be sent to inquirers seeking information.

Some excellent suggestions were made, especially by Mr. Twining, a member of the Newport company, which is promoting Verdugo Woodlands. Secretary Rhoades was instructed to engage the services of an expert to prepare a folder or small booklet for immediate use, and when drafted, to secure bids from the printing establishments of Glendale to be submitted to the committee for approval. Plans for a more elaborate booklet to more thoroughly set forth the beauties and advantages of Glendale, were tentatively discussed but with no expectation that they will materialize for some time to come.

A proposition by outside promoters to put on a 10-day campaign to "trade at home" by means of large posters to be used in the windows of business establishments and which would be sold to merchants for 50 cents each, was discarded by the committee, which argued that a "trade at home" campaign should originate at home and be broader in scope than the one proposed. That, too, may be worked out by the committee later.

Present at the meeting were H. S. Webb, Eugene Gordon, Mr. Twining, A. T. Cowan and Gertrude Gibbs.

MRS. RAY L. MORROW TO ENTERTAIN CLUB

The R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church will be entertained at its regular monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ray L. Morrow, 516 West Doran street.

Sewing and an Easter program will be features of the afternoon, following the business session which begins at half past two.

DEATH CLAIMS GLENDALE'S OLDEST PIONEER, PHILIP BULLIS, AGED 81

He Was Born in Columbia County, New York, and Came to California in 1861—Located in Glendale Forty Years Ago—Witnessed Growth of City

In the death of Philip Harder Bullis, who passed away at Arbor Rest, in this city, at 4:15 o'clock, Monday afternoon, and who would have attained his 81st birthday had he lived until April 25, Glendale has lost the oldest of her pioneers.

He was born in Columbia county, New York, and first came to California in 1861. In 1865 he went back to Michigan where he married, returning to California in 1869. For a brief time he was located in San Rafael, but came south in 1872 and settled in Compton. To Glendale he came over 40 years ago or in 1880.

At that time there was no Glendale and no community save two Spanish settlements, one the east side of Verdugo road on what are now the south and east city limits, the other across the Southern Pacific tracks not far from the site of the present city pumping plant. The country was mostly given up to cactus and sage brush, but a tract of 120 acres along the river was owned by one Glassell who made a proposition to Mr. Bullis to give him 40 acres if he would plant for him another 40 acres to grapes and take care of them for three years Mr. Bullis accepted the offer and thus acquired his 40-acre home site at what is now San Fernando and Broadway.

The only other local development was on the Ross ranch, where a bunkhouse had been erected and seven acres of seedling oranges had been planted. The J. H. Crow ranch, which was later subdivided as the Lomita park tract and which comprised the area between Colorado and Windsor, Central and Glendale avenues, had a five-acre orchard of seedling oranges and 40 acres of deciduous fruit. There was no water pipe of any description, the irrigation water coming from Verdugo canyon in open ditches. The only house between the Bullis ranch and the Buena Vista street bridge was the home of James Jeffries, father of the ex-champion. Not a house was to be seen on the San Fernando road which, although a through highway, was then unimproved. All supplies had to be brought from Los Angeles, and that city, which then had a population of about 40,000, was the market to which Mr. Bullis took his wood and hay, which were then his chief crops.

Almost until the last breath of this vigorous pioneeer who had an opportunity to witness the development of this district from a wilderness to a modern city, retained the full use or his mind and body. He had rarely been ill in his whole life, and death was merely the stopping of a wornout machine, a painless passage to the great beyond.

Four children survive to continue the name and work of their father, Joseph Bullis of Petaluma, W. H. Bullis of 1325 South Central avenue, Georgiana Wooley of 1501 South San Fernando road and James Allen Bullis of 111 East Maple avenue.

Funeral services will be held at the Scovern parlors, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment at Grand View, where the wife of deceased and his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Stine, are buried.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LE PINE TOMORROW

The remains of Mrs. Charles Le Pine, who passed out of this life at her home in Douglas, Ariz., on Saturday, April 2, are being brought here for interment. Mrs. Le Pine has a large number of friends in Glendale, made during her frequent visits to her husband's mother, Mrs. H. Henning, 203 East Elk street. She was a loving wife and devoted to her husband and 17-year-old daughter, Hazel.

Funeral services will be held at Ivy H. Overholtzer, 958 South Hill street, Los Angeles, on Wednesday, April 6, at 11 a. m. Interment will be made in Forest Lawn.

TO HAVE "FATHERS' NIGHT ON APRIL 14

Central avenue P. T. A. is planning a "Fathers' Night" for Thursday, April 14.

It is by no means to be a prosy, serious affair—on the contrary, it promises to be a hilarious evening for the staid fathers will be expected to come in the garb of their childhood days—knee trousers and Buster Brown collars and Windsor ties; while the dignified mothers will come in little girls' dresses and with pigtails down their back.

A vaudeville show will also be a feature, but its personnel is to be a surprise. Refreshments will be served and everyone is cordially invited. No admission will be charged.

INHERITANCE OF BEAUTY OR CHARM

(Written by MARGERY REX for International News Service.)

NEW YORK, April 5.—Many mothers leave their daughters an inheritance of beauty or charm. Others bequeath jewels and old lace. Some women relinquish wealth to their daughters, some a proud name.

Is it possible for the tendency to divorce to be left as an inheritance from mother to daughter?

The story of the Stillmans is now common property. As prologue to the unhappy drama is the life story of the beautiful and accomplished mother of Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman. She is Cora Brown Potter, divorced by a stern husband who did not approve of her espousal of a stage career.

Now "Fifi," her daughter, is undergoing much the same experience, except that James A. Stillman makes charges of a nature entirely different than those upon which the Potter divorce was secured—in that case abandonment.

Tendencies run through families. Even divorce would appear to be inherited if one were to judge by some noted examples of family groups in which marital happiness seems impossible to achieve.

Disposition Can Be Inherited

While the actual desire to divorce would not, of course, be inherited, nevertheless the disposition of character that would demand freedom from an unpleasant situation could be transmitted from parent to child.

We know that certain diseases which are supposed by many to be "inherited" positively canot be handed down from parent to offspring.

But a predisposition can be transmitted from a mother to her children.

People may say, for instance, that in such and such a family they have all "inherited" a certain malady, but the fact probably is that from one or the other parent the children have received a tendency to develop such a disease, and perhaps living in such conditions as fostered the disease in the parent, have, themselves acquired it.

It is quite likely that a tendency to social disease, divorce for example, might be present as well as the disposition to develop a bodily ill.

Powerful Force of Example

A proud and independent spirit which would make a mother break away from marital bondage, when irksome, might be transmitted to a daughter. The daughter, in turn, might find life so unpleasant with her husband that her high-strung nature would prompt her to get a divorce or, in the event of her leaving such a husband, might cause him to divorce her.

Added to such a spirited nature there would be one of the greatest forces in the world, the force of example.

The mother's example will always impel a daughter. In a moment of doubt she will be very apt to do as her mother has done in a like quandary.

Daughters of divorcees, deep in marriage difficulties, will be likely to decide upon divorce themselves.

The "Fashionable Frenches," of New York and Newport, exemplify one case in which a mother who was divorced had two divorced daughters, a divorced aunt, and numerous other matrimonial complications throughout various branches of her family.

Mrs. LeRoy French in 1914 divorced Amos Tuck French. Mrs. Julia French Geraghty, one of her daughters, in 1919 divorced Jack Geraghty, her chauffeur husband. Mrs. Polly French Wagstaff, known as the beautiful Pauline LeRoy French, divorced Samuel Wagstaff in June, 1920.

On March 11 last Mrs. Wagstaff was married to Donald Oliver McRae, a clerk employed by the Central Union Trust Company, five years her junior.

But the first of the French family to seek a divorce was the lovely sister of Amos Tuck French, Elsie, who married and later sought freedom from the late Alfred Vanderbilt. In 1919 she gave society a shock when she suddenly married a naval ensign ten years her junior, Paul Fitz-Simon.

One of the great difficulties, so it is said, in the problem of the Huhns living amicably together was the fact that both had been married before. Huhn's children by a first marriage did not like the idea of Ethel Huhn, the child of the second union, inheriting any of the Huhn wealth.

Bailey-Huhn Romance Shattered

Then came little Ethel Huhn's romance. Joseph W. Bailey, jr., in a training camp met Ethel not long ago when she was a debutante. Bailey was the son of a former senator from Texas. The affair was called a "perfect story book romance." The two were married, but last fall it was rumored that the young people had separated and that a divorce action would be begun.

Family heartburnings and money wrangles are said to have separated the parents of pretty Ethel. Is it surprising, then, that when her own marital problems became troublesome she thought of divorce?

Huhn's daughter by his first marriage also followed in her parent's footsteps when she decided to become divorced from Andrew J. Carty of Philadelphia., with whom, according to statements made to friends, she became "frightfully bored." A son by that first marriage of Huhns is also separated from his wife, who refuses, however, to divorce him.

In a family that has never known the pangs of the legal rending apart that constitutes divorce it seems a strange and terrible thing. It looms up as a devastating, scandalous affair, something to make every member of the family hang his or her head in shame.

But, once experienced, this legal process does not seem so terrifying.

When a daughter of a divorced mother is herself suffering from unhappy marital experiences, is is surprising that she seeks the solace that she knows divorce gave her mother?

MUSIC AS A CURE FOR MENTAL DISEASE

(By International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 5.—Picture the tired business man, sated by musical comedy and jazz, paying a physician who prescribes one Hungarian rhapsody three times a day, after meals.

When William Congreve, the poet, asserted in verse that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," he unwittingly stated a scientific fact, according to modern psychologists.

Going still farther, the psychologists declare that every kind of music has its own special sort of reaction, and to prove their contention, a test was made at Harvard University.

With Harvard and Radcliffe students as subjects, it was definitely established that various types of music register varying effects on human beings.

As a result of these experiments, which are taking place throughout the country, it is believed that in the future music will have a definite place in the treatment of mental diseases.

The work is being carried on by the officials of the Edison Phonograph company under the immediate supervision of Thomas A. Edison and Professor Bingham, of Carnegie Institute. As the tests are made, the results are collected at the Edison laboratories, tabulated and studied.

The first subject to whom the test was applied was William J. Burns, the detective, immediately after a protracted investigation of the Wall street, New York, bomb outrage. Mr. Burns listened to several records played on a phonograph and then filled out a chart describing his change of mood with each selection.

The test at Harvard was given to the advanced class in applied psychology under the direction of Professor Langfeld and J. F. Tolleson. Five musical selections were played on a phonograph before the class and each student then described on a chart his or her mood before the music began, the mood with which the music ended and the particular selections which had affected the change. Professor Langfeld emphasized to the class the importance which such a study may have on the treatment of nervous disorders.

DISCOVER MUSICAL WONDER IN DENVER

(By International News Service)

DENVER, April 5.—That a potential prima donna and grand opera star has been discovered here in pretty 14-year old Lou Milton is the belief of several prominent Denver musical tutors who have had the young prodigy under observation.

The girl has amazed professional teachers who have listened to her remarkable voice recently. It is declared that she is known to have pitched her voice to the second "f" above "high c"—the highest note ever recorded by a human vocal chord.

The highest previously recorded note was that attained last fall by 12-year-old Robert Murray of Tacoma, Wash., who sang before Metropolitan Opera stars in New York and reached the note "c," one octave above "high c."

The note achieved by the sparkling Denver miss is one-half an octave above that sounded by the Tacoma boy, and a full octave above the range climax of Mabel Garrison, who is said to have the highest range of any living prima donna. Little Miss Milton's voice is declared to possess a continuous range of four octaves.

The Denver marvel is a beautiful, vivacious child of 14. She lives with her parents at 3400 Federal boulevard, and attends the eighth grade in the Columbian public school. Her winsome manners and eager willingness to participate in school entertainments have won her much popularity, and teachers at the school predict a successful career in the realm of music for the dainty miss.

GOVERNMENT STANDS FOR REPARATIONS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 5. — The United States has informed Germany that this government still stands with the allies with regard to the payment of reparations, the state department announced today.

The state department announced that a communication has been sent to Ellis Loring Dresel, American commissioner at Berlin, setting forth the views of this government. The communication is in response to informal statements exchanged by Dresel and Dr. Simons, German premier.

BRUCE KING IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

(By International News Service)

FAIRPLAY, Mo., April 5.—Bruce King, farmer, charged with first degree murder in the King-Decker love quadrangle poison case, was found not guilty by a jury today. King was charged with poisoning his wife and with complicity in the alleged poisoning of C. E. Decker, his neighbor, in order that he and Mrs. Effie Decker might be free to carry on an alleged illicit love. Mrs. Decker died while awaiting trial.

CARVED FIGURE OF CHRIST IS MARVEL

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—A carving of the head of Christ, in which intensity of suffering is expressed in space no larger than that of a silver dollar, has just been exhibited to the public for the first time in its tragic history. That this marvelous miniature reproduction of the death agony of Christ on the cross was inspired by the genius of a great though unknown artist is the opinion of experts who have viewed it. The priceless little masterpiece is now in the possession of Mrs. Oliver Harriman, 142 East Fifty-sixth street, this city.

The carving has won the admiration of prelates and the high approval of artists. The head is carved in relief on the concave pod of a Florida bean, with half the outer shell of the bean making a frame for it. One must use a microscope to perceive the delicacy of the carving, which brings out the features with tender detail with tears coursing down the cheeks. Long exposure has hardened the pod until it is now like yellowed ivory.

The creator of the miniature masterpiece lies in an unknown grave in Spanish Honduras, the victim of a death punishment inflicted by the law of the land. But the gem he has created has inspired artists, prelates and laymen alike to a spirit of humility such as might be caused in the living presence of the Master.

The story its custodians have heard of it is that it was made in 1895 by a man awaiting death in a Guatemala prison. On the way to execution he passed a small package to his jailer to be given to the family of the condemned with the words: "This is my last message."

It remained a souvenir in the family several years, and it was then accepted in discharge of a debt by a man who held a lien on the family home. The new owner kept it for fifteen years, admiring it, but with no thought of its art value, and then he gave it to a Senor Navia, the son of a boyhood companion. After holding it for four years in Madrid, Senor Navia came to New York, where he became enamored of Miss Sonia Nordstrom. Upon their betrothal several years ago he presented the carving to her. Since then she has had financial difficulties.

When it was first entrusted to Mrs. McFadden, she showed it to the late Bishop Church, who assured her it was the most satisfying portrayal of Christ's face he had ever seen. He christened it "Christus de Profundis."

Mrs. McFadden says that at the instance of Bishop M. J. Curley, of the diocese of Florida, she took it to the late Cardinal Gibbons, who blessed it, kissed it three times, and said: "You have a treasure. I have never seen anything so exquisite."

Frederick Macmonnies, the sculptor, said of it: "The little head is god like and infinitely appealing and tender in its agony. The master sculptor who made it must have come through a life so drenched in sorrow that he was able to carve into that stricken face the soul of suffering."

When the other prelates and artists added their praise, Mrs. McFadden brought the carving to the attention of Mrs. Harriman, who was deeply impressed with it and arranged a private view. It is the purpose of the custodians to try to make searching inquiries concerning the Guatemalan prisoner, in order to bring him posthumous credit for mastery in pictorial sculpture.

EATS METAL AND GLASS WITHOUT HARM

(By International News Service)

SANTA FE, N. M., April 5.—Charles Kennedy, a veteran of three wars, was sorely disappointed when a legislative committee neglected to recommend him for parole. Kennedy is serving a sentence for jail breaking, and when he learned that the committee which had visited him in the penitentiary had failed to urge his release he indulged in a "spite" feast of hardware.

Kennedy swallowed several pieces of baling wire, a safety pin, a common pin and a steel drill three inches in length.

Prison physicians used a fluoroscope on the convict and declare he will suffer no ill effects from the rugged meal, as all of the metal pieces passed through his stomach without difficulty.

Kennedy told prison officials that his appetite for steel and glassware was developed some years ago, and claimed that he has chewed up and swallowed two electric light globes during his present incarceration. He said he had chewed up and swallowed several whisky glasses in the days of pre-prohibition to collect wagers.

Kennedy claims that by thoroughly breaking up brittle glass with his teeth he can swallow it without injury.

AMERICAN ARMY NOT TO BE REDUCED

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The American army of occupation in Germany will not be reduced in size before July 1, 1921, the war department announced today. The previous policy with regard to the army of occupation has been that men whose enlistments have expired would be returned and no replacements sent, thus providing a gradual reduction of the size of the force.

Secretary Weeks said today that due to a lack of funds for transportation, every effort will be made to hold the size of the army of occupation at its present size without bringing any of the men home before July 1.

HARD TO RESTORE RAVAGED DISTRICTS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, April 5.—France will be outstripped by Germany within a few years if she does not buckle down to work with the same spirit the Germans are displaying. Francois Marsal, until recently minister of finance, told an audience at Strasburg.

"We have known since the armistice that the sums we will get from Germany will go but a very short distance toward relieving the tremendous burdens the war has imposed upon us," said M. Marsal. "We can count upon them neither to restore our devastated districts, to pay pensions nor to meet other heavy costs of war.

"It matters not whether a nation was defeated or victorious in this war if she does not set to work. It is the people who get to work more quickly, who work with more ardor, whether it be in the field or in the shop, who will establish economic and financial supremacy. By the same means they will establish political supremacy."

The former finance minister urged that private enterprise be given a free hand in the restoration of France.

"There should be no further talk of the state engaging in great industrial enterprises," he said. "No matter what the operation, it is a well known fact that it will cost infinitely more dear if it is undertaken by the state instead of being left to private interests and private individuals. If France makes no costly errors in this line and applies herself to the task of reconstruction she will have a speedy recovery."

SUES CITY AFTER HE IS ACQUITTED

(By International News Service)

MACON, Ga., April 5.—Suit for $8467.50 against the city of Macon has been filed by J. E. Bunch, former city detective, because the city refused to reinstate him after he was acquitted of the murder of Philip Lamar. Bunch was discharged when the murder charge was brought.

A man who lives right and is right has more power in his silence than another has by his words. Character is like bells which ring out sweet music, and which when touched, accidentally even, resound with the sweetest sounds.

Good time for all can only be produced by good work by all.

UNVEIL SEVEN STATUES IN CAPITOL

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Keeping in step with the "clean-up" movement now on in government circles, the library committee of congress and the fine arts commission are preparing an overhauling of art works in the nation's capitol.

During the present year it is expected that there will be unveiled or dedicated the Lincoln Memorial building the Women's Titanic Memorial, the Francis Asbury Memorial, and the statues of Meade, Buchanan, Hamilton and Francis Scott Key.

All of these are to be located on sites donated by the government in Washington city. Large gatherings are expected for most of these ceremonies, especially for the dedication of the Francis Asbury Memorial, the site for which was authorized by congress in 1919.

It is now proposed by congress that there shall be a closer scrutiny over works of art to be placed in Washington before permission is given. This has come about through criticism of some of the statues and memorials that have been placed. Notable among these art specimens that failed to meet the endorsement of art critics was the DuPont statue, which was removed, and the site occupied by an Admiral DuPont memorial fountain of artistic design.

It is probable that a blanket resolution will be presented to congress repealing legislation granting permission for the erection of various statues and memorials not placed or nearing completion. Among those affected by such legislation would be the large memorial to the nuns of the battlefield, a Civil War art piece to be presented by the ladies' auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, permission to erect which in Washington was granted by congress in 1918.

The National Museum will rearrange and set permanently during the summer many pieces of art now in its possession. Superintendent Elliott Woods, of the capitol, is now preparing plans for new locations for statues placed by the several states in the capitol building.

Remarkable

Undoubtedly the Jane Jackson is the finest corset ever offered at less than ⅓ to ½ more than its price. It is the finest corset it is possible to make.

Heretofore such corsets have borne most elaborate trimmings as an excuse for extravagant prices. In the Jane Jackson these frivolous non-essentials are eliminated.

SOCIAL CLUB GETS FREE ADVERTISING

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—After police had maintained a strong guard over all Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company subway and elevated stations for ten hours, fearing that an attempt was going to be made to blow up some of them, it was learned that the scare was caused by the attempt of a social club to get some free advertising for a dance it intended giving. Circulars containing this warning were scattered through the residence district of Brooklyn:

"This will happen on the Sea Beach line, April 2—K. K."

It developed that "K. K." stood for "Komic Klub," which was giving the dance.

FELONY TO BRIBE BASEBALL PLAYERS

(By International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, April 5. — Senator Lawrence J. Flaherty's baseball gambling bill, which makes it a felony to bribe participants in a ball game, came up on second reading in the assembly today. It will be on third reading file Monday and is expected to pass with the same unanimous vote that was received in the senate.

The measure was introduced at the request of Wm. H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific coast league, to meet the situation that was developed in the baseball scandals of last season. Assemblyman Rosenshine is looking after the Flaherty bill in the lower house. The act adds four new sections to the penal code to cover the gambling menace in the national sport.

TEX RICKARD SAYS "NOTHING TO IT"

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—Reports from London today that Georges Carpentier and Frank Moran had been matched to box there May 31, were discounted by Tex Rickard.

"Nothing to it," said the promoter. "Carpentier is touring in Algiers and when he finishes his tour will make preparations to start for America and begin training for Dempsey. According to our contract, neither Carpentier nor Dempsey can take part in any boxing contest two months prior to their match July 2."

BOMB EXPLOSION DAMAGED HOME

(By International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., April 5.—A bomb explosion badly damaged the home of Louis Fortner today. Members of the family were blown from their beds, but escaped uninjured. Windows in homes for a block around were shattered. Threatening letters, demanding sums of money have been received by Fortner recently.

MET ACCIDENT WHILE BURYING COMRADES

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, April 5. — A disastrous funeral was reported from Essen today. A squad of police were burying their comrades killed in the recent battle with communists when a hand grenade exploded accidentally in the automobile carrying them, killing three and wounding ten.

STEAMER LOSES HER PROPELLOR

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The steamer Silverado, owned by the United States Shipping Board and enroute from Valparaiso to San Francisco, lost her propeller and is being towed to Callao, according to cable advices to the chamber of commerce here today.

REBECCA WAS LATE; PASTOR MERCILESS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, N. C., April 5.—A woman of this city, whose name is Rebecca, very seldom misses divine services, but often is late.

Recently she arrived just as the pastor was reading from the Scriptures the story of Rebecca at the well. As the late-comer tripped up the aisle the minister read:

"And behold, Rebecca came forth."

Broad smiles played over the faces of the worshipers. Blushes flooded the face of Rebecca. Courageously she went on, quickening her steps.

"And she made haste," continued the clergyman.

Snickers from the youngsters, broader smiles from the grown-ups and half-suppressed giggles from the half-growns were the response.

By that time Miss Rebecca had reached her pew. She sttumbled in and sank down as if she hoped the cushions would swallow her.

"Let the damsel abide with us," said the minister, closing his book and ending the reading, much to the relief of Rebecca.

STILLMAN ALIMONY AND COUNSEL FEES

(By International News Service)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 5.—Counsel for James A. Stillman, multimillionaire president of the National City bank, who is suing his wife, Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman, for divorce, naming an Indian guide as co-respondent, today pleaded before Justice Morschauser for an extension of time for the banker to start paying the alimony of $90,000 a year set a few days ago by the justice. The banker's counsel also asked that the amounts for alimony and counsel fees be paid to Mrs. Stillman in installments, explaining that the banker, although wealthy, would find it exceedingly difficult to raise such a sum of money on short notice.

MRS. LOCKWOOD WILL BE HOSTESS THURSDAY

Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, 235 West Lomita avenue, will be hostess on Thursday to the drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club on Thursday afternoon.

The curator, Mrs. R. E. Chase, will have charge of the meeting and the study of Moliere's "The Learned Ladies" will be begun, following the discussion on Ibsen's "The Doll's House," whose study the drama section has just completed.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JOHN BURROUGHS

(By International News Service)

WEST PARK, N. Y., April 5.—Funeral services for John Burroughs, the famous naturalist, who died while enroute to his home here from California, were held today. Thomas A. Edison, Henry Ford and H. S. Firestone were among the prominent men who came here to pay a last tribute to their friend. Burial will take place tomorrow.

FRIENDS ENTERTAINED

Rev. B. D. Chapin and wife were guests Sunday of Fred Mattice and family, 233 South Jackson, who were their neighbors in Los Angeles for several years. Rev. Chapin, who preached at Central Christian church in the forenoon, was born in China, while his parents were on the missionary field. He was educated in this country, however, and graduated at Occidental. He was pastor of the Burbank Christian church for a few years.

LYCEUM AND CHAUTAUQUA BENEFITS

The average citizen has some knowledge of lyceum and chautauqua, but he little realizes what they amount to in the life of this nation. Officially collected figures for the year 1920 present an astonishing total of effort put forth by these forces of popular education. There is no state in the Union without lyceums and chautauquas. Between 10,000 and 15,000 lyceums were in being the last year, with an aggregate attendance of over ten millions, and 8581 chautauquas were reported, with an aggregate attendance of 35,449,750. About one-third of the aggregate attendance in each case is said to represent different individuals. An invariable increase in business during 1920 is reported, and a greater increase in sight for the coming year. And what is of equal importance are reports of a steady demand to keep up and improve the quality of the instruction or edification given.

One of the hopeful things in life is that if you can get to know people you generally like them. Chautauqua in a great degree, and the lyceum in a lesser, brings people to know other people. Especially does Chautauqua gain a harvest in this way in having Chautauquas for children—a wise provision for a better America by and by. Another hopeful thing is the avid way students at lyceums and chautauquas absorb and revel in the expert explanation of an unfamiliar subject. The war, with its flood of lectures explaining what we had to do for our country and what other countries were doing to us, has left its influence on our people and enlarged the view of the average woman and man, so as to include the world and its problems and people beyond our waters.

The Lyceum-Chautauqua, or popular lecture, is an American institution. It is the university of the people.

HELPING AN ANCIENT FRIEND

China has an immediate claim upon the affection and sympathy of the United States. Toward no other country, perhaps, is our sentiment so warmly cordial. The catastrophe which is taking a daily toll of ten thousand lives in five northern provinces of the Republic is, therefore, certain to win a substantial response from the American public. Contributions to the China Famine Fund will be in proportion to our reputation solidly established as a Samaritan nation.

But aside from the profound humanitarian appeal implicit in the plight of this appealing people, there is an economic aspect to the situation which, however minor in importance, is not wholly to be ignored. Our trade relation with China is not competitive but co-operative. She has raw materials to sell, and needs the finished products which we make. Her imports in 1919 amounted to $781,458,975; her exports to $762,842,465. Our share of this business amounted to about 65 cents per capita of the Chinese population, or about $260,000,000. Our annual trade with Great Britain is $46 per capita. It is unreasonable to suppose that our trade with China will ever reach such proportions, but at that rate it would total $18,000,000,000 annually.

When we remitted about $13,000,000 of the $25,000,000 indemnity imposed upon China as a result of the Boxer uprising, we builded better than we knew. This evidence of friendliness, trifling as it may seem in its financial proportions, has stimulated a feeling of good-will which extends from the mandarin to the coolie. Probably the United States has never made a better investment. The interest on that money is being used by China to educate her young men in this country, and they return to the Far East as active and ardent missionaries of American customs, American ideals, and American goods.

No deserving appeal to American generosity has ever gone unanswered. This will not. The dictates of reason and common sense corroborate the imperative dictates of the heart for China's relief.

ANDERSON FLEEING TO THE ORIENT

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 4.—Chicago police are considerably "peeved" at E. S. Diess, chief of police of Riverside. They blame Diess for the fact that Edwin Anderson, alleged swindler, is not in custody.

Anderson was arrested in Riverside and Chicago detectives were preparing to go to California to bring him back. The Riverside chief, however, wired Chief of Detectives Hughes here that Anderson had asked to be allowed to return alone, thus avoiding the embarrassment of traveling as a prisoner.

Chief Hughes telegraphed a vigirous protest, but the Riverside chief wired back that Anderrson had declared the charges were "false as hell" and that he had left $150,000 in securities as a bond.

Latest advices from California are that Anderson left for San Francisco, presumably with the intention of fleeing to the Orient, instead of Chicago. Chicago police are preparing to undertake a world-wide search for him.

PASTOR SHOT WHEN HE ANSWERS DOOR CALL

(By International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., April 5.—The Rev. L. Jareky, pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church, West Wyandotte, was shot and killed as he answered a call to his door Friday night. The motive of the crime is unknown. The priest is not known to have had any enemies and had received no threatening letters, his friends assert.

TIBURON IS ALMOST DESTROYED BY FIRE

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Fire which practically destroyed the town of Tiburon, Marin county, with a monetary loss estimated at close to $250,000, was brought under control at 6:45 this morning after raging unchecked throughout the night. The blaze was not controlled until after a battalion of the San Francisco fire fighting force had been transported to Tiburon by steamer. Lack of fire boats caused considerable delay in the local department responding to calls for assistance.

The fire started shortly before 2 o'clock in a store close to the waterfront. It was quickly out of control and today but three structures were standing in the business section of the town.

TRIED TO RAISE RENT OF APARTMENT

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—Mrs. Rebecca Wansker, convicted of manslaughter in the first degree in connection with the killing of Samuel Silverberg, one of her tenants, was sentenced today to an indeterminate sentence of from ten to twenty years in prison. The prosecution contended that Mrs. Wansker killed Silverberg in a quarrel arising from her insistence that he move out so that she could raise the rent on the apartment. The defense claimed that Mrs. Wansker shot Silverberg in defense of her honor.

EMPLOYES WIN AN IMPORTANT VERDICT

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5. — Fifteen hundred employes of the signal department of the New York Central railroad won an important verdict today after a lively debate between representatives of both sides, the management yielding to the employes' demand to submit the question of a reduction of wages to the United States railroad labor board. The management consented to hold in abeyance a contemplated wage cut until the board has rendered a decision.

ESCAPED SHIPWRECK, BUT DROPPED DEAD

(By International News Service)

SEATTLE, April 5.—Fred P. Phiel, a passenger on the ill-fated steamer Governor, escaped shipwreck, but dropped dead in Vancouver, B. C., in a ditch at a street corner after arriving from Victoria, where he left the steamship. Papers in his pocket showed that he had been discharged from the steamship Brozdon at Sydney, N. S. W. He was 54 years old and a member of the longshoreman's union.

WALL SHATTERED; NO ONE INJURED

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 5.—More than 30 families fled into the street and many windows in the vicinity were smashed today when a four-story building owned by Rosario Campanello was bombed. Campanello told the police he had been threatened by extortionists because he had refused to heed their demand for $1500. The front wall of the buildig was shattered, but no one was injured.

RECEIVED $35,000 IN WEDDING FEES

(By International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb., April 5.—The goal of a lifetime was reached here recently when the Rev. Charles W. Savidge, Omaha's "marrying parson," tied the nuptial knot for the five thousandth time in his extensive coupling-up career.

Five thousand couples in 46 years and $35,000 in wedding fees! The Rev. Mr. Savidge challenges the regularly ordained pastors of the entire U. S. to match his match-making achievements.

In three tomes, written in Mrs. Savidge's hand, the entries into double harness via the Rev. Mr. Savidge, are kept by a sort of double-entry system, each bride and bridegroom being alloted a serial number. Naive asides, in red ink, recount human interest incidents of many of the couples.

What romances are contained in that record of almost half a century!

No. 1313 Was Disastrous

As he thumbed over the yellowed records, Mr. Savidge chanced upon many interesting episodes.

There was wedding No. 3557. A young girl, pretty and penniless, lying ill of scarlet fever in the emergency hospital, found life worth living when her lover, a brave young tar of the U. S. S. Tallahassee, came all the way from the west soast to Omaha to marry her. The Rev. Mr. Savidge has performed many marriages when one of the contracting parties was ill in bed, but none at which he more gladly officiated.

And take wedding No. 1313, a disastrous affair, proving conclusively the jinx of the unlucky number. The groom committed suicide three days after the ceremony.

Fee Paid in Saplings

"The oddest couple I ever married was No. 34, way back in '82, when I was a pastor at Mankato, Minnesota," said Mr. Savidge. "He was 83, she was 72. She was his fourth wife and he gave me the smallest fee I ever received, some saplings for the church yard. But they got ashamed of themselves and died!

"You just ought to have seen that couple!" he laughted. "Funniest looking pair I ever married. He had been living all alone in a little shanty on a secluded hillside, but he'd fixed himself up for the occasion the best he knew how. And so had she. Hair slicked back with grease, beard parted and brushed out, bandana handkerchief tied around the neck of a soft shirt and a cut-away coat—that was the groom. Funny little old bonnet, corkscrew curls, a stiff black dress with hoop skirts—that was the bride. But they lived happily ever after, even though they didn't have long to live.

"I don't know which was the youngest couple I ever married. But I've married many that had to have their parents' consent. And, I presume, I've married some who lied about their ages.

Prayer Followed by $50 Fee

"The largest fee I ever received was $50. I prayed eight hours for that. I needed that amount to pay for a new buggy. I didn't tell the bridegroom so, but I told the Lord, and He put it into the heart of that man to hand me five $10 bills.

"The most famous man I ever married was Joe Stecher.

"The meanest bridegroom I ever marride was No. 849. Nice-appearing chap, Charles W. McKown. Told me he was a minister's son. But just three days after I pronounced the words which made him and Mrs. Alice T. Coffee, of Omaha, man and wife, I found out that he had 13 different wives on his trail. And a St. Patrick's day wedding it was, at that.

Fifty Double Weddings

"I've officiated at more than 50 double weddings. There are at least 30 re-marriages on my books. I'll tell you that's what does a person's heart good—when people have had foolish quarrels and have been divorced, only to find that they can't live without each other.

"The largest wedding I ever had was at Lakeview, last July, when 10,000 people witnessed the ceremony. That was also the noisiest wedding. My quietiest weddings were marriages of deaf mutes. I've officiated at ten of them.

"My earliest wedding was at 1:30 a.m., a couple from Des Moines, whose train had been delayed."

The Rev. Mr. Savidge has many "regular customers" at his matrimonial counter. In several instances he has officiated at a woman's first and second marriage. He has married whole families of brothers and sisters, and in dozens of cases has married the son or daughter of a couple whom he married early in his career. Literally hundreds of anmes appear on his books, first as witnesses and later as brides and grooms. For instance, groom No. 4990, entered recently, was witness to wedding No. 3700, which occurred just four years ago. Thirteen hundred couples in four years! Weddings have come thick and fast in these later days, and what with a rushing matrimonial business, a regular pastorate, and assisting in the celebration of dozens of silver weddings, the Rev. Mr. Savidge is a very busy man.

Plans to Move to Seattle

But now that he has attained his goal he is contemplating moving to Seattle, Washington, retiring from active life, to write a book entitled, "Unequally Yoked." He believes he could embody in such a volume a great deal of valuable advice to persons choosing life partners.

"Marriage is the natural state of man—and woman, too," stoutly declares the Rev. Mr. Savidge, who does everything in his power to encourage the unmated to find companionship.

But he wants it understood it is no trivial matter.

"Anything so excellent, so beautiful, so noble and so lasting as marriage should not be entered into lightly," he says. "I often ask a girl to take out her gum or a man to dispense with his cigar when they come to me to be married.

"'Oh, we dropped in just as we were,' they tell me.

"'Then you are making a bad mistake,' I answer. 'A wedding is much more likely to be happy when people take thought for the ceremony. Why, I ordered a $75 suit for my own wedding in the days when $35 was considered a huge price. And there was never a happier couple than Mrs. Savidge and I."

Brides' Mirror in Office

Both in his downtown office and his home study the Rev. Mr. Savidge keeps a beautiful mirror, so that the brides may tuck in the last stray hair just before the ceremony.

"It's scriptural," he explained. "Can the bride forget her attire? the Bible asks, and from my observation of 5,000 of them I answer, emphatically NO."

"What will you do when you get to heaven where we are told there are no marriages?" was the next question.

"Wait for my couples to come up," was his instant answer.

ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. CULVER

The golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Culver, 327 North Isabel street, on March 15, 1921, was celebrated in song and verse. Two of the friends of the celebrants read original poems. The one which follows is from the pen of Ethel L. Mason:

Just fifty years ago today,
Since the solemn words were spoken,
Which joined your lives in holy bonds,
In bonds to ne'er be broken,
Till God shall say, "Your work is done,"
And call you to your rest—
Then may we each be reconciled
And say, "He knoweth best.

But now in retrospective view,
You're thinking of the past;
How God's own hand has led you on,
Of blessings first and last,
Of sorrows you have had your share,
But God has been your friend,
And ever wiped away the tears,
And will until the end.

Six children he has given you,
But one was laid to rest;
One daughter and four boys remain
To cheer you to the last.
These five are left to cheer you still,
In your declining years,
God's consolations still remain,
His rainbows shine through tears.

In our dear church you've done your part,
When zeal was burning low,
To fan a dying spark to flame
Until its warming glow
Was even felt in dark Africa,
Where many walk in sin's dark night,
But through your means they learned of God
And thus have found ~~the light~~.

And now as we have gathered here,
So glad, we all would say,
You ever lived to celebrate
Your golden wedding day.
We pray that God may spare your lives
For many a coming year,
To pray and work for sinful men,
For He will soon appear

To call us, from the clouds above,
To meet him in the air,
Oh may we each be ready then,
Service finished, and in prayer—
With lamps all trimmed and burning bright,
You're waiting for him now,
Just trusting in His power today,
With sunshine on your brow.

So you can walk, as Enoch did,
Ne'er doubting His sweet will,
But kept and guided all the way,
With eye on Zion's hill.

BACK UP DESIRE FOR NEW CHURCH EDIFICE

The parishioners of the Church of the Holy Family would certainly be the delight of the people of the "Show Me" state, for they believe in backing up their desire for a new church edifice with deeds and with self-sacrafice. Consonant with this belief of theirs, they generously turned in as their Easter collection a total of nearly $1600—$1577.86, to be exact.

This added to their Christmas collection, the $3000 or more which they gained by their successful bazaar just before Christmas, the food sales, the silver teas and other social affairs of the ladies, which net them from $25 to $35 every time, are an earnest of whole-souled co-operatioin which must be an inspiration and a source of satisfaction to their pastor.

"LITTLE ENTENTE" READY FOR CHARLES

(By International News Service)

PARIS, April 5.—A dispatch from Prague, capital of Czecho-Slovakia, quoted the foreign office as making the following announcement:

"The 'little entente' has completed the necessary military preparations. If ex-Emperor Charles' attempt is not definitely checked by Thursday, the first measures will be applied. Charles' followers are more numerous than has been generally expected. We are determined to check them and prevent similar attempts in Munich and Berlin."

16,000 MEN RETURN TO WORK MONDAY

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., April 5.—Sixteen thousand men employed in the building trades, on strike in Greater Boston since January 19, will return to work Monday morning at their old rate of pay, pending arbitration.

The workers today accepted the proposition of the state board of arbitration to return to work at the old wage rate of $1 per hour, pending further conferences.

The men struck as a protest against a 10 cents an hour wage cut.

WASHINGTON AGAIN TOURISTS' MECCA

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4. — Long kept out of Washington because of the exigiencies of war and the aftermath of war conditions, tourists are beginning to flock back to the Capitol this spring in ever increasing numbers. They first began to arrive in noticeable numbers about inauguration time, when the capitol foliage was just beginning to emerge from its long winter's sleep, and now that the Japanese cherry trees are blooming in Potomac park and the magnolias are gleaming against the faint green flush of reborn grass, they are here in full force.

Washington is "returning to normalcy" in more ways than oone. The tourists are back, the White House grounds are open again; it is again possible to go through the White House proper, and one can take pictures about the capitol without being followed around by a gumshoe gent, or being barked at by an irate guard, who has visions of deep, dark, dank foreign plots.

This year there are many new points of interest added to the sight seeing routes. The completioin of the beautiful Lincoln Memorial, standing, solitary and alone, by the banks of the muddy Potomac is a conspicuous onee, as is also the Arlington Memorial Amphitheater, from which can be obtained the most beautiful view of the capitol city.

And not the least of the new places of interest is a flat-looking house in S. street, where Woodrow Wilson has retired to his books and reminiscences of past glories. The Wilson home has been added to the routes, and it is proving almost as big an attraction as the White House itself. The sightseers, however, seldom see any signs of activity about the dull-looking house. The garden where the former President takes his airings is in the rear of the house, shut off from the street view.

Many now calling themselves Washingtonians, who came to the capital during the war, were in the class of tourists themselves when the Hardings first threw open the gates of the beautiful White House grounds. The gates were swung open as soon as Mrs. Harding could give the order after theh return from the inaugural ceremonies at the capitol. From that moment on there has been a constant stream of people circulating about the semi-circular walk that leads up to the veranda.

The first crowds in their exuberance were not particularly solicitous about the foliage, and the gardeners have had to labor diligently to repair the ravages of their feet. But the throngs are more orderly now and give the uniformed guards but little difficulty.

Inside the White House, however, the sightseers have to be watched sometimes. The mania for souvenirs, inherent in the American tourist, is ever ready to crop out and is the bane of the guards' lives. Tassels have been clipped from curtains and draperies despite watchfulness. And as for palms, they are shortlived in the White House. The ordinary life of a healthy palm is about four weeks. People will strip off thhe long blades, and the guards pay little attention to them, evidently figuring that palms are cheaper for the government than legs of chairs and candelabra.

Washington has "returned to normalcy," at least so far as the tourist is concerned.

CLAIMS TO BE COUSIN OF HARDING

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 5.—Everett Harding, 26, claiming to be a cousin of President Harding, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Mason today on a charge of impersonating a government officer.

Harding was arrested, according to reports at the local offices of the United States secret service, after James Sloan, chief of the President's own secret service, had made a special trip to Chicago in connection with the case.

MANY KILLED IN RAILROAD CRASH

(By International News Service)

EAGLE PASS, Tex., April 5.—Thirty-three persons are reported killed in a railroad crash between Parradon and Monterey, Mexico. A passenger train ploughed into a freight train. More than two score other passengers were injured, many seriously.

Wooden coaches in the passenger train are blamed for the high casualties, the coaches crumbling into kindling wood under impact of the crash.

Victor Villareal of Piedras Negras, is the only victim identified.

PETITION

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles.

In re. Application by the Glendale Publishing and Printing Company, a Corporation, that Glendale Press as to its Daily Edition Be Declared and Adjudged a Newspaper of General Circulation.

The petitioner, Glendale Publishing and Printing Company, a corporation, hereby petitions that the Glendale Press as to its daily edition be declared and adjudged a newspaper of general circulation and in that behalf alleges:

I.

That the Glendale Publishing and Printing Company is a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California and has its principal place of business at the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California.

II.

That the Glendale Press was printed and published at regular weekly intervals for more than one year prior to March 1, 1921, in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, by J. W. Usilton and J. H. Folz, its sole owners and proprietors, that on March 1, 1921, the said petitioner as the successor in interest of the said J. W. Usilton and J. H. Folz of the said Glendale Press and the Glendale Press plant and equipment began to print and publish and ever since has continued to print and publish at regular daily intervals, except Sundays, the said Glendale Press as "Glendale Daily Press, (Daily Edition of the Glendale Press)," at said City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California that said Glendale Press, daily edition, is a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published as aforesaid, for the dissemination of local and telegraphic news and intelligence of a general character, and has a bonafide subscription list of paying subscribers to whom said newspaper is delivered daily as printed and published and for which each and every subscriber pays the said petitioner at the regular subscription rates.

III.

That said Glendale Press was printed and published as a newspaper by said J. W. Usilton and J. H. Folz continuously and at regular weekly intervals, except Sundays, for more than one year prior to said March 1, 1921, and was on said March 1, 1921, and daily thereafter, except Sundays, to the present time, has been printed and published and continues to be printed and published at regular daily intervals at said City of Glendale, by said petitioner for the dissemination of local and telegraphic news and intelligence of a general character.

IV.

That said Glendale Press, printed and published at regular weekly and regular daily intervals, as aforesaid, had at all of the times mentioned in this petition and now has a bonafide subscription list of paying subscribers at the regular subscription rates.

V.

That said Glendale Press was at all of said times a newspaper of general circulation and published for the purpose and at the place as aforesaid.

VI.

That said Glendale Press has not been during any of the time mentioned in this petition and is not now devoted to the interests or published for the entertainment or instruction of any particular class, profession, trade, calling, race, or denomination, or for any number of such classes, professions, trades, callings, races or denominations nor has the avowed purpose of said newspaper ever been, nor is it now the avowed purpose of said newspaper to entertain or instruct such classes or any of such classes.

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays that this Honorable Court ascertain and adjudge that said Glendale Press is a daily newspaper of general circulation within the meaning and requirements of Section 4460 of the Political Code of the State of California, and as such is entitled to accept contracts for and do official advertising and publishing wherever the same is required by any law of the State of California, and for such other and further relief as may be meet and proper in the premises.

NOTICE

In the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Los Angeles

In re. application by the Glendale Publishing and Printing Company, a Corporation, that Glendale Press as to its Daily Edition be declared and adjudged a newspaper of general circulation.

Notice is hereby given that the petitioner in the foregoing petition intends to apply to the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Los Angeles on Thursday, the 14th day of April, 1921, at 10 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as petitioner may be heard, at the Courthouse of said Superior Court within the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, for an order setting the foregoing petition for hearing and for decision and judgment as in said petition prayed.

GLENDALE PUBLISHING & PRINTING COMPANY.
By MATTISON B. JONES,
President.

Dated: April 1, 1921.

CONSTABLE'S SALE

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice's Court of Burbank Township, County of Los Angeles, State of California, dated the 25th day of March, A.D. 1921, in a certain action wherein A. S. Romero as plaintiff recovered judgment against Antone Romero and Marie Romero, also known as Marie Toquinto, also known as Marie Alarcon, as defendants for the sum of $118.21, lawful money of the United States, besides costs and interest, etc., on the 28th day of March, 1921. I have levied on the following described property, to wit: Lot (22) Twenty-two, of the Glendale Valley View tract, in Block L. as per map recorded in Book (9) Nine, Page (157) One hundred fifty-seven, of Maps, records of Los Angeles County, and standing of record in the name of F. W. Curran. Commonly known as (561) Five hundred sixty-one West Oak street, Glendale. And upon which the defendants herein named hold a recorded contract of sale of real property.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 25th day of April, 1921, at 10 o'clock, A. M., of that day at 114 East Broadway, City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, I will sell all the right, title and interest of said defendants in and to the above described property, at Public Auction, for lawful money, to the highest and best bidder, to satisfy said execution and all costs.

Dated at Glendale, Calif., the 29th day of March, 1921.

H. E. PURRIER,
Constable of Burbank Township.

Date of publication, March 29, April 5, 12, 19.

DENIES NEW TRIAL FOR "BIG HUTCH"

It must be a satisfaction to Malcolm McLaren of this city to know that Everett A. Hutchings, otherwise "Big Hutch," who is said to be the head of a notorious bunko ring, has failed to secure a new trial in the superior court which recently found him guilty and imposed a sentence of from one to ten years in the state penitentiary. The motion of his attorneys for a new trial was argued before Judge Willis, Saturday and the judge ruled the trial had been a fair one and the defendant was not entitled to a new hearing. He was convicted of defrauding a farmer, John B. Norris of Decatur, Illinois, out of $51,000 in a fake stock deal, and as soon as sentenced, was arraigned on a charge of having similarly defrauded one John A. Swanson of Holdridge, Nebraska, in the sum ot $20,000.

"Big Hutch" has spent money lavishly to escape the clutches of the law and tried desperately to avoid extradition to California from New York. Malcolm McLaren, who is a detective in the service of the prosecuting attorney's office, went east and succeeded in bringing Hutchings back to Los Angeles for trial.

AN AUDIENCE AWAITS YOUR LINER MESSAGE

The reader who has decided to find a better house or apartment watches for the advertisements which will afford a worth-while opportunity for further investigation.

The reader who seeks a new position, in office, store or factory, hope to find the message which calls to service.

The employer who needs a worker looks over the "Situations Wanted" ads with hopeful interest.

The finder of a lost article expects to read the message of the loser in the liner ad columns.

The person who has decided to buy a lot on which to build a home a little later is an eager reader of the liner ads.

If you have anything to offer, or if you seek to find anything, your liner advertising audience awaits your message.

The man or woman who wants to find more desirable furnished rooms watches the little ads.

The person who boards, and who does not feel that the best place has yet been found, reads the liners.

GLENDALE'S GROWTH AND PROSPERITY

The Los Angeles Times comments editorially in yesterday's issue on the growth and prosperity of Glendale as follows:

"Los Angeles is doing wonders in catching up on her home-building program. It is possible that she was the third city in America for the total construction work for the month of March, and the cities roundabout her are almost as busy. Glendale has built nearly a million dollars' worth of homes this year. The permits for March exceed $400,000 and it was mainly for residence construction. The census gave Glendale standing as the champion home-growing community of the country and this record will fatten rather than shrink with this season's record."

C. OF C. FORUM WILL BE HELD THURSDAY

A mid-day forum will be held Thursday noon at Masonic Temple, for which a program of special interest to business men has been arranged. J. H. Van de Water, manager of the Retail Merchants' Credit Association of Los Angeles, will be the chief speaker and will talk on "Credits." W. W. Weir, president of the same association, and Mr. Miller, manager of the credit department at Hamburgers' will also speak on credits.

Tonight the committee on advertising and promotion, of which H. S. Webb is chairman, will have a meeting, and the auditing committee of which C. D. Lusby is chairman, will also convene.

GLENDALE-MONTROSE LINE SUNDAY SERVICE

Sunday being a cheerless day the travel on the Glendale-Montrose line which put on its half-hour Sunday service for the first time, was not as heavy as expected, but officials were philosophical about it.

The development in Verdugo woodlands, at La Crescenta and Montrose has increased the travel so much that the company has bought another one-man car in the expectation of increasing the service as the demands warrant. At the present time the weekday runs are made once an hour. On Sundays the cars will run every half hour.

LADIES TO RESUME SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The ladies of the Holy Family will resume their social activities, suspended during the Lenten season, with another of their enjoyable card parties at the White Inn tomorrow evening.

They began, however, with their characteristic vim to add to their church building fund immediately after Easter, giving a silver tea at Mrs. Farrell's last week, which netted $25, and a food sale on Saturday which brought them over $35.

ANNUAL CONCERT OF THE MADRIGAL CLUB

The Madrigal Club, a flourishing musical organization of which Mrs. Charles A. Parker is director and Mrs. Wright the accompanist, announces that its second annual concert will be given April 15 in the attractive auditorium of the Broadway school. A fine programme is being arranged for the event.

"CUSSED HUSBANDS" DECLARES VOLIVA

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., April 5.—Comes again before us Mr. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, and informs the hemispheres on "The Cussedness of Modern Husbands to Their Wives," to-wit:

"A man goes into a home and courts a beautiful girl. She has a lovely father and mother, and the most charming surroundings.

"He sits there with oil on his hair, a perfumed handkerchief in his pocket, and buckwheat batter on his head.

"He says:

"'Now, darling humpty-dumpty, if you only will promise to be mine, you will never have to put your hands in dishwater, and I will dress you in silks and satin.'

"The infernal liar!

"She has her hands in dishwater two-thirds of the time after she marries him. They have four sweet little children. He is an Odd Fellow on Monday night, playing the dunce; an Elk on Tuesday night, a Buffalo on Wednesday night, a Macabee on Thursday night and a Bumblebee on Friday night.

"He leaves his wife at home with the children while he is out fooling around, wearing a little apron in a secret lodge room.

"If I were in her place I would sew him up in a bed-quilt, beat him with a broom and put a kitchen apron on him and make him wash the dishes."

Further than this, deponent saith not.

UTILITIES CONNECTIONS

According to public service department reports there were 4948 water connections in force March 1 and 85 were added during the month, making the number now 5033; there were 5614 light connections March 1 and 109 added during month, making the total in force April 1, 5723.

THREE KILLED IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

(By International News Service)

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., April 5.—Three dead, one seriously wounded and a woman missing is the aftermath today of a tragic shooting affray that terrorized scores here last night. Four persons were held by the police pending a thorough investigation.

J. M. Zimmerman, night captain of police and Paul Spencer, a patrolman, were shot and killed by William Riscau, a former railroad fireman, who later ended his own life. Helen Conway, a member of the party which was with Riscau is missing, and it is feared she may have drowned herself in the river here. Harry Arndt, a restaurant man, has bullet wounds in each leg from shots fired by Riscau.

Those held by the police are Pauline Gibson, William Caruth, James Gaster and W. M. Hayes.

The shooting is said to have followed a drinking party of which Riscau, the two women and Caruth were members. It occurred on the main street of this city and scores of passersby were frightened by the shooting.

MURDERED WHEN SHE REFUSED AUTO RIDE

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, Ind., April 5.—Trial of V Webber Smith, charged with the murder of Miss Irma Hancher, was begun in the circuit court here today. Smith is alleged to have shot the young woman because she refused to accompany him on a midnight automobile ride last January.

AUGUSTA VICTORIA SINKING RAPIDLY

(By International News Service)

LONDON, April 5.—Augusta Victoria, ex-Empress of Germany, is sinking rapidly, according to a dispatch to the Daily News. The condition of the ex-empress is described as more precarious than at any time since she was stricken with the heart disease from which she has been suffering at Doorn for several months.

THE PRICE OF AID TO POLAND IS OIL

By EARL C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 5.—In the gigantic international battle for control of the world's oil sources, in which Britain and America have been the leading figure thus far, France is taking giant strides today by gaining almost complete control of the Polish oil fields.

America is merely an observer. But she is watching the French strides through the eyes of Standard Oil representatives and through government agents.

These men state that France is to ask for compensation for her services in stepping in and saving Poland when the soviet armies were at the gates of Warsaw, and that the price she is asking is complete control over 85 per cent of Poland's vast oil wealth.

France to Dominate Galicia

This statement is supported by representatives of British oil companies in London, who admit that an agreement has been reached whereby France will dominate the oil fields of Galicia.

The first stages of this development in international division of what is today perhaps the most vital raw material are in the form of negotiations now under way for transfer to French capitalists of $50,000,000 worth of British oil interests in Galicia and Southern Poland.

British ownership in that oil field has predominated up to this time. Foreign ownership has aggregated $100,000,000 — divided $50,000,000 among British companies, $35,000,000 French and $15,000,000 Belgium.

Practically none of the properties were owned by Polish capitalists, for the reason that, before the war, the present Poland was divided among Germany, Austria and Russia, and Poles were not to the fore in control of natural resources or production.

Negotiations Started Early

Control by British capital became final when, during the war, the British alien enemy property custodian took over German and Austrian owned oil securities. Management of the Galician oil fields during the war was in the hands of an "international committee appointed to protect British, Belgian, French and Allies' oil interests in Galicia," as the organization was officially named. Charles Perkins, managing director of the British Premier Oil Company, Ltd., was the head of this international committee.

Even before the bolshevist drive into Poland, tentative negotiations were on foot for the transfer of British Galician interests to French control. The later developments, however, have stimulated the movement.

The Polish government during the period of its strength realized the importance to the nation's future of control of oil districts. Some months ago official orders were issued which were branded by foreign oil managers on the ground as nothing short of confiscatory. Prompt international negotiations followed and resulted in the repeal of these orders.

When subsequently, Poland was forced to look to entente nations for support in her time of need, her ambitions for control of her own fields apparently had to go into the discard in the face of a threatened national calamity.

France Gets Allies' Holdings

American oil men declare that it is generally understood that France made a deal with the Polish government regarding oil control before French generals jumped into the breach and saved Warsaw from capture by the bolshevists. Regardless of whether the first steps were made before the Polish offensive, as a price of assistance, or after the success of the offensive as a reward for services performed, confirmation is obtained in London of the fact that Poland agreed to the French terms, and that by the plans now being negotiated the former German and Austrian holdings now controlled by Britain also go to French capitalists.

The Galician oil is especially valuable because of the high gasoline content, some of the oil wells yielding as high as 50 per cent of gasoline Besides which all the Galician oils also rich in paraffin and the coal tars, from which enormously valuable by-products are manufactured.

There is perhaps only one other oil field which rivals Galicia in the richness of the by-product content—that in Alaska, situated at Kaalla, on the south Alaskan coast. But the value of Galician oil consists also in its geographical location. For eastern Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and north Russia, as well as Esthonia, Lithuania, Litvia and the Scandinavian countries, Galician oil is economically nearer and more readily available than oils from any other field. Galician oil and its control offects every country bordering on Poland.

This will mean much for France. Its power was shown recently when bitter dispute arose between Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, Poland by playing its trump card and threatening to shut off the oil supply from the Czechs, discovered that its oil properties were its best international as well as industrial asset. Paris will now have the word of authority in Poland's best international weapon.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has tankage interests in Galicia. Mr. Topliffe, manager for a former Standard subsidiary in the territory centering around Spain, was lately sent to Warsaw and Galicia to look into the situation. It is understood that Standard Oil will not get out of that field, but its interests there, so far as known, are not in production of oil and its refining, but in the holding of considerable tankage capacity for the purchase of finished products.

MISS NOBLE'S HOME IS BURGLARIZED

House Thoroughly Ransacked in Daylight Robbery on Saturday Afternoon

Miss Carrie Noble and her brother, whose home is at 953 North Avenue Sixty-four, just outside of Los Angeles, have suffered a serious loss. Saturday afternoon, between 3 and 4 o'clock, their home was entered and thoroughly ransacked by a daylight burglar or burglars. An entrance was effected through the kitchen door which was taken off its hinges. Mr. Noble lost two suits of clothing and all his underwear, collars and handkerchiefs, except what he had with him. Miss Noble lost her watch, two rings with diamond and cameo settings, a jade pin, and another pin of quaint design which had been in the family for many years and which she would not voluntarily have parted with at any price. It represented in relief the head of a woman wearing a bonnet adorned with a spray of diamond chips. Other things lifted showed that the thief was a man of discrimination, with a knowledge of values. A handwoven coverlid made in 1789 for which Miss Noble had refused $50, was taken, but an auto robe was left. All their phonograph records are gone and many other articles they have not been able to catalogue. The stolen articles were carried away in a suitcase belonging to Mr. Noble.

For boldness, the crime has seldom had a parallel, as the brother and sister were absent such a short time that the burglar must have barely made his escape before their arrival.

"SAFETY FIRST" IS THE SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Henry Matthiesen of Los Angeles, visited the Intermediate school at 9:30 Monday morning and gave a half-hour lecture of "Safety First. It was illustrated with lantern slides designed to show that with exercise of due care and caution, many of the accidents to life and limb may be avoided.

The harp recital given at Intermediate last week netted about $29 for the phonograph fund. The machine is so nearly paid for that only a few more entertainments as good as this will be required to earn the balance of the money needed.

"UP IN MARY'S ATTIC" GLENDALE THEATER

"Up in Mary's Attic," the feature picture at the Glendale theater today, is a whimsical comedy drama, yet its fascinating plot holds the interest of the audience and makes it a wonderfully appealing photoplay.

Charming Mary (Eva Novak), falls heir to her uncle's estate on condition that she does not marry until she is 21. The cupidity of the principal of the seminary she is attending prompts him to force her to marry his son. Mary is already secretly married to the seminary's instructor of athletics. Complications desperate and amusing, grow out of this situation. Pretty girls, a beautiful baby, an almost human dog, and also Harry Gribben are elements that go to make this the cleanest, cleverest comedy ever offered the tired world.

"Now or Never," featuring Harry Lloyd, has been retained for today's and tomorrow's performance by popular request. This, too, is a remarkably amusing comedy, with some of the funniest acrobatic stunts ever seen on the silver screen, and is also a comedy to be commended for its freedom from any suggestiveness or coarseness.

A Pathe review and a "Globe Trot Travelogue" complete this program.

AMERICA TO RELIEVE STARVING MILLIONS

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—Latest reports from China, received by the American committee for China famine fund indicate that not less than 5,000,000 persons in the hunger zone are wholly dependent upon help from America in order to live until the next harvest.

The famine area covers parts of five northern provinces of China, the heart of the best agricultural region of the country; Shensi, Chihli, Shansi, Hoana and Shantung being affected, a territory in all of about 100,000 square miles. The disaster was due to the failure of three successive crops, owing to drought, and at the beginning of the famine 45,000,000 men, women and children were reported directly affected, with 15,000,000 totally destitute and depending on outside help to save them from death by starvation. Taking account of relief from all sources, American, Chinese and foreign, at present in sight, the most conservative estimates place the number of those still destitute at 6,000,000.

Relief workers have been concentrating their efforts toward bringing enough of the population through in good physical shape, so that the spring harvest can be planted and cultivated. This has meant that the aged and infirm have not always shared in the relief supplies, and the toll of death has been heavy. It is impossible to say how many have died: missionaries report that graves are everywhere. At Kalgan, in Chihli about 1000 refugees died in one night of hunger and cold, while attempting to flee into Manchuria, where the drought did not affect the crops. About the larger cities of China, such as Tientsin, thousands of homeless families are living in tents and dugouts, depending on charity for bare life. In the interior, missionaries report whole villages affected by acute hunger. Suicides, child-selling and abandonment are reported to be everyday occurrences.

A vast relief machinery has been set up under the direction of an all-American committee in Peking, of which Charles R. Crane, United States minister to China, is chairman. The actual distribution of the relief supplies, clothing and fuel is done by missionaries and relief workers cooperating with the reliable local authorities in the various famine centers.

ARCTIC CAN RAISE MEAT FOR WORLD

(By International News Service)

The so-called frozen northland, according to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the noted explorer who is to lecture here on the second evening of Chautauqua, is in reality a boundless stock range capable of raising herds that will feed the world. The barren tundras, according to Mr. Stefansson, reach out in limitless direction and may be had for the taking. The stock that graze on them, the reindeer and the caribou, need no barns nor haystacks. The reindeer provides for itself. Protected from the northern wolf, it could be raised in unlimited hundreds of thousands, sufficient to feed the meat-eating world.

This was one of the theories of the northland which was upset by Mr. Stefansson during his five great years spent in the Arctic. Instead of finding a bleak, barren country, he discovered a land with plenty of food for the traveler, providing the traveler learns how to obtain it. He found a land of first class ranges, rather than an eternal desolation of snow and ice. He found a land rich in possibilities for future development along food-producing lines. In his great illustrated lecture, "My Five Years in the Arctic," Mr. Stefansson explodes many of the old theories of life and vegetation in the polar circles.

GOMPERS TO DEFEND MEXICAN LABORERS

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, April 5.—Disagreeing with thte statement of Secretary Zubaran, of the department of commerce and industry, who declared that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has abandoned the principles of international friendship and cooperation between the working classes, members of the Confederation of Workingmen of Mexico have decided to ask Mr. Gompers to defend Mexican laborers against the senate bill to restrict the immigration of foreign workers.

BUYS CATALINA FOR ISLAND EMPIRE

AVALON, Catalina Island, April 5.—If fortune had been very kind to you and you had wads and wads of money, and stocks and bonds, and blocks and tracts of valuable real estate scattered here and there, and you had, in fact, pretty much of everything that gold will buy to make you happy, would you yearn for something else?

William Wrigley, jr., the Chicago multi-millionaire and sportsman, was just such a darling of fortune. Yet he wanted something more.

It was—

An island in the Pacific ocean.

Not a little toy affair with a few houses, a boat landing, a few trees and containing some scattered acres; on the contrary, a small empire in itself, being 25 miles long, nine miles wide and containing 54,000 acres of some of the most picturesque mountainous scenery in the world.

Mr. Wrigley talked about his island of wonders, or rather Santa Catalina island, to use its full name, in much the same matter of fact way that a proud suburbanite would tell of a new home he had but recently purchased.

"About two years ago I found that I could obtain Catalina island at an advantageous price," Mr. Wrigley said. "I was interested in a banking deal which involved buying the property at what seemed to be a reasonable figure. I took the owners up on their offer and a few millions of dollars changed hands. I didn't get to inspect my property for six weeks, but I knew I had not bought a pig in a poke. I was delighted with my 'buy' and have been more and more pleased every day I am here to enjoy it.

"When I have completed a long list of improvements and have the island laid out according to plans that will take several years for their execution, I expect to make it a playground for the west. It will become a Riviera of the Pacific, but it will be distinctly an American Riviera catering to Americans desiring American amusements.

"Las year the payroll of the island's hotels, boarding houses, camps, fishing enterprises, furniture factory and amusement concessions was $980,000. The island's population at the height of the summer season was 12,000. Quite a hefty business proposition involved in Catalina."

BOOZE BY WIRELESS THE LATEST METHOD

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 5.—Booze by wireless!

Yep. It's the latest method in Chicago, according to District Attorney Charles F. Clyne.

Mr. Clyne received a complaint from an amateur wireless operator who said he intercepted a wireless message flashed from the old Twenty-second street district to Maywood recently. It was:

"Mike Costello did not get his booze on time last Thursday night. If this happens again payment will be stopped." It was not signed.

Mr. Clyne has radio men and prohibition agents trying to trace the booze wireless stations.

It may be a flash—not a flask of whisky from now on.

Who knows?

HISTORIC 18-POUND CANNON EXCAVATED

(By International News Service)

PLYMOUTH, Mass., April 5.—An old cannon of the 18-pound type, used by John Paul Jones in famous sea battles more than a century ago, came to light during the excavating of the waterfront preparatory to the Pilgrim Tercentenary Exposition. The old weapon, weighing 2800 pounds, was given to Collingswood Camp, S. of V., and immediately hauled into its resting place before the memorial hall of Collingswood Post, G.A.R.

EASTERN FARMERS WILL ORGANIZE

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—Organization of cooperative marketing associations under the same plans adopted by the growers of the Pacific coast, is being undertaken by farmers of the Atlantic coast states, according to J. F. Langner, advisor to many of the larger farmers' cooperative marketing associations on both coasts.

Nine different groups of New York state farmers are now effecting organizations, while the potato growers of New Jersey are well advanced in organization work.

The Pacific coast system of Cooperative farm marketing has been adopted by the egg producers of New Jersey in an effort, according to Langner, to compete successfully with the California, Oregon and Washington poultrymen, who are shipping their goods to New York and commanding a premium in the markets because of the quality and grading of their products.

The New Jersey organization plans a non-capital, non-profit stock association and is retaining Aaron Shapiro, San Francisco attorney, as counsel.

Commenting on the necessity for the formation of Atlantic cooperative organizations for farmers, Langner said:

"The farmers in nearby points to the New York market are now facing conditions of a more serious character than any that have previously confronted them. They formerly had first call on the New York, Philadelphia and Boston markets. Now the Pacific coast is challenging, not in any casual way, but with the finest type of farmer organizations ever conceived and with the highest principles of merchandising developed. The Pacific coast is shipping apples, eggs, oranges and a thousand different farm products to the east and is selling its products in competition with local growers. Such a condition, of course, cannot last. The growers either have to abandon their farms or organize to meet this competition."

ATHLETIC CHAMPION ANSWERS CUPID'S CALL

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 5.—Doctors sometimes tell us that athletics are bad for the heart.

Miss Alice H. Lord, of Brooklyn, Olympic high diver, Richard W. Landon, of Yale, high jump champion of the world, do not think so.

They are engaged to be married, it has just leaked out.

The high potentate of Love took a high shot at the hearts of the high diver and the high jumper while the three were crossing the high seas on the Princess Matoika last July with 300 others, to aid America in bringing home the world's highest sporting honors. The high seas, the high moon and a high deck did the trick, according to members of the triumphant American team.

No date has been set for the high nuptial ceremonies.

POPOCATAPETL IS IN ACTION AGAIN

(By International News Service)

VERA CRUZ, April 5.—The volcano of Popocatapetl is in action again. A message received here says thousands of inhabitants of the surrounding area are fleeing. Columns of gas and sulphurous smoke are shooting skyward to a height of more than 3000 meters. Streets in three nearby towns are covered with hot lava.

Do not talk about yourself against yourself. Listen while other people talk about themselves as much as they will—you wish to learn.

C. E. M'PEAK MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

C. E. McPeak has just finished the enlarging and rearranging of his plumbing shop and show rooms at 110 West Broadway.

Mr. McPeak has arranged a novel demonstration of a model bath room and kitchenette, which is well worth seeing if one is contemplating building a home, for one may learn from it what scientific plumbing means in the matter of health to the family and what proper placement and spacing of fixtures in bath room and kitchen mean in saving of space and in convenience.

The cream-white bath room with its built-in tub and pedestal wash basin would be the joy of any housewife's heart and the tiny kitchen with its sanitary drainboard and sink, its gas range and instantaneous water heater will appeal to anyone who appreciates a sanitary kitchen with arrangements that save steps and lighten work.

Another demonstration shows the difference between the ordinary hot water heater and the instantaneous water heater; the latter Mr. McPeak finds in his long and successful experience to be more economical as well as more convenient.

ADVENTIST CHORAL SOCIETY'S CANTATA

The Choral Society of the Adventist church gave the cantata, "David, the Shepherd Boy," on Sunday evening. The church was beautifully decorated with potted palms, roses, white wisteria and ferns, and in spite of the weather the church was crowded even to standing room.

Through choruses, solos, and dialogues, the story of David was depicted, from the choosing of a king by the people, the anointment of David by Samuel, the downfall of Saul, the death of Jonathan, to the coronation of David, the shepherd boy as king of the Israelites. The different parts were very ably rendered and especially beautiful were the choruses by the children, in one of which they sang the obligato accompanied by the larger chorus.

MISS VESTA MORROW HOSTESS IN NEW HOME

Miss Vesta Morrow was hostess to a group of friends at her home, 516 West Doran street, last Friday evening. Spring blossoms, with yellow predominating, decorated the home for the occasion.

Merry games, bright music and absurd practical jokes befitting the celebration of All Fools' day, were the pastimes of the evening, and salted candy proved such a hoax that the guests were suspicious of the bona fide refreshments served by the young hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. R. L. Morrow.

Those having the pleasure of the occasion were Misses Faye Butler, Dorothy Howard, Nellie Rowe, Helen Cobb, Ruth Morton and Messrs. Emery Myers, Dale Wood, Edgar Shockley, Alvin Brown, and Henry Stuart.

LAURA A. McGRUDER PASSES FROM LIFE

Mrs. Laura A. McGruder of 400 West Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles, was claimed by death Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. McGruder had many acquaintances in Glendale. She was a great friend of Mrs. J. H. Springer of 534 West Oak street and a frequent visitor in the Springer home.

"THE KID" AT THE PALACE GRAND

Lovers of real comedy should not fail to see "The Kid," the Charlie Chaplin feature picture which is being shown for the last time at the Palace Grand today. Many admirers of this famous funmaker have felt that he had in him great power as a delineator of pathos as well as humor, and this opinion is justified in "The Kid," his latest screen success. While Charlie has never been funnier in any previous film story, he develops in this story a heart interest and a pathos that has seldom been surpassed by any emotional actor. His ideas of raising "The Kid," whom he adopts, afford many situations for the inimitable Chaplin comedy, and the dramatic climax through which he loses the child is pathetic and tragic. Charlie's rescue of "The Kid" after a chase over rooftops relieves the tragic situation and is one of the best bits of comedy in the picture.
